

Dear participants and those who still consider participation!

Only few days have left for the Early Bird to register and submit the abstracts (April 19), so this is a "last call" reminder to register for reduced price and to present your research at IBGS13!

We are aware that some countries in the world still have strict restrictions on travel abroad due to the C-19 pandemic.

Therefore, in order to enrich the program, the LOC invites potential participants from these countries to submit abstracts and register for remote participation by first contacting the IBGS13 organizers.

Please forward this info to your colleges who might be interested but still do not know about IBGS!

Below you will find more information about the possibilities to spend some additional time in Latvia. We are sure each of you will find something that suits your interests to visit before or after IBGS.

Thank you if you have already registered and submitted your summary!

The IBGS team wishes everyone a Happy Easter!

See you in person this summer in Latvia!
